Event Details

When young people have career plans or aspirations based on career exploration activities they are more motivated to take advantage of job placement opportunities.

Benefit from the resources, strategies and the expertise of your colleagues as we tackle developing effective workshops on career exploration skills, occupational interests, work values, and education and training pathways.

Whether your organization is planning to conduct an hour or eight hours of trainings on job search skills, this workshop will help you prepare to execute highly-effective trainings aligned with Positive Youth Development approaches.

In this training, you will:

- Get ideas and resources on how to lead trainings to help youth participants explore their career interests and plans
- See effective and engaging activities modeled
- Practice your own facilitation skills in small groups
- Participate in a highly-interactive and collaborative workshop.
- Leave the training with a working agenda and the basic materials to conduct workshops that meet the needs of your youth program participants

Lunch will be served!
